

ACORN CONSULTING

You May Need These

Cooking Utensils

The country you're moving to may not have everything you're used to or they may have a different quality. You may be attached to certain items or require something specific in the kitchen.

Small Kitchen Appliances

You're giving away a lot of items but the climate may have some different demands. Not everything will be available where you're going and ordering could be expensive.

Tools

You may not be able to easily find everything you need. Your tool ecosystem may require you to purchase backups, just in case. Definitely bring good quality basics.

Technology

There may be import fees associated with buying technology or markups in your destination country. It is cheaper if you bring what you need when you come.

Bedding

All countries have sheets and towels. All sheets and towels are not equal. If you have good quality bedding, consider bringing it. Be careful if moving to a new climate. It may be too heavy or too thin.

Climate Items

Is the climate different where you're going? What should you keep or buy in preparation? For some items, it's better to buy them there but you may want to consider bringing some of the harder to find items that you already own.

Shoes

If you have too many shoes, you will need to make some decisions. You will likely be walking more so be sure to pack your comfortable, quality shoes. If you have large feet, sizes may not be available. Know this before you donate or sell your shoes.

Memories

Don't make the mistake of letting go of too many memories. You don't need them all but once those photos and sentimental items are gone, they may be gone forever. Know what you can let go of and what needs to survive the trip.

Consider

- Sheets
- Towels / washcloths
- Specialty pillows
- Throws
- Weighted blankets

- Umbrella
- Poncho
- Light/Heavy clothing
- Hats
- Personal Fans
- Sunglasses

- Comfortable walking shoes
- Large sizes
- Versatile shoes (Crocs, slides)
- Boots

- Photos
- Childhood items for yourself or children
- Important documents (on a hard drive)
- Yearbooks
- Cards / Letters
